Montana Women's Bureau

The Montana Women's Bureau is a state agency established in July, 1974 by the Department of Labor and Industry in response to a legislative mandate to establish "procedures which will enable women to contribute to society according to their fullest possible potential." Functions of the Women's Bureau established by the State Legislature include:

1. Conduct studies about the changing employment needs and problems of women in Montana and make recommendations to the governor and the legislative assembly.
2. Direct public attention to critical employment problems confronting women as wives, mothers, homemakers and workers.
3. Serve as a clearinghouse for information and materials pertinent to programs and services available to assist and advise women on employment and related matters.
4. Cooperate with governmental departments and agencies primarily involved in curbing job discrimination and in the expansion of employment rights and opportunities available to women of this state.
5. Conduct periodic conferences throughout the state to make women more aware of employment opportunities, programs and services available to them.
6. Serve as the central, permanent agency for the coordination and evaluation of employment programs and services for women of the state and as a planning agency for the development of those services.
7. Encourage women's organizations and other groups to institute local self-help activities designed to meet women's employment and related needs.
8. Apply for and receive grants, appropriations or gifts from any federal, state or local agency, private foundation, or individual to carry out the purpose of this act.

Your tax dollars make the Women's Bureau possible. If you need information--or assistance with an employment-related concern--let the women's Bureau know.

The publications listed here are available on a loan basis from the Women's Bureau Clearinghouse.
